They are going like the proverbial hot cakes. Don't wait until later, because then our display will be limited, and the one you really want will be gone.

We have a few of

Charles H. Sawyer's Hand Tinted Photographs

of the beautiful and picturesque White Mountains left. Each of these is a masterpiece in that delicate art of tinting. Also landscapes by Plummer and Burrows.

The display in our show windows is very complete. Look them over, pick out the one or more that you want, and come in and ask us to save them for you. You will be surprised, as well as satisfied with the prices.

Next Week

Beginning Monday, this space, as well as our show windows, will be entirely devoted to Table Lamps, Floor Lamps, and Domes with fixtures for one or more lamps.

The Scottish highland costume is of extreme antiquity and the custom of marking the cloth with stripes and spots to form the various tartans or plaids gradually developed with the forming of the various clans. See the Gordon tartan, much noted in history, at the Barre pipe and drum band concert in the opera house Friday evening, Dec. 12.

A free public lecture on Christian Science will be given in Howland hall Friday evening, Dec. 5, by Charles I. Ohrenstein of Syracuse, N. Y. Mr. Ohrenstein is a member of the board of trustees of the First Church of Christ, Scientist, Boston. The lecture is given under the auspices of the local Christian Science church and the public is cordially invited to hear it.

A party of about 50 young people gathered last evening at the South Barre grange hall to remind Miss Marion Howard of the anniversary of her birth, she being 14 years old on that date. The evening was spent in playing games, singing and enjoying a short impromptu program. Miss Howard was presented, in behalf of the party, an ivory manicuring set by Miss Lillian Ladd. Miss Howard responded with thanks. Refreshments were served at 11:30.

One of the best suppers, both in quality and in number of persons served, was that given in the vestry of the Presbyterian church last evening in connection with the annual Christmas sale of fancywork. Fully 300 portions of the delicious chicken-pie and other eatables and when the last person had been served it was found that there were only the dishes remaining, so great was the demand. As on the previous night the various booths were patronized by the ladies and virtually every article had been disposed of ere closing time. The ladies' union, under whose auspices the affair was conducted, will be able to clear a good round sum from their efforts. In connection with the apron booth it should be stated that Mrs. John Thompson was the chairman and she worked untiringly for its success.

Regular meeting of Degree of Poehantons, Friday, Dec. 5, at 7 p. m. Election of officers, adoption and refreshments.

SPAULDING ATHLETES DINED LAST NIGHT

had been cleared from the table, Max Fisher most ably attended to the post-prandial exercises as toastmaster. The first speaker called upon was Supt. C. H. White, who told of the growth of the schools in Barre and of the very high standard of students as observed by outsiders. He stated it would be the endeavor to maintain that high standing both in scholastics and athletics.

Prof. Lyman C. Hunt was called upon. His remarks testified to the clean sportsmanship of the teams and the excellent reports which find their way back to the local officials. He said that he would much rather have defeat through honorable playing than a victory from questionable sportsmanship. The financial end of the athletic association was explained by Prin. Hunt and from his talk an idea as to the expense in properly equipping a winning team was gained.

Representing the business men, the toastmaster called upon Homer C. Ladd. Mr. Ladd, who has attended many of the football contests this year, stirred his hearers when he related the feeling he had after the start of the second half of the championship game at Burlington, when, with the score 13 to 0 in favor of Rutland, the Spaulding lads came back strong and besides running up 10 points held their opponents scoreless for the remainder of the game.

He said that a good share of their training would be gained from such encounters where concerted teamwork rather than individual play would result in victory. He said that the trend of the times was for sports and he hoped that, as had been suggested, a winter sports club might be formed in Barre this year.

In closing, he hoped the teams would get better support from the people, for, as he said, if the team had been better backed financially it might have easily brought home the championship, as it was classed as the best all-round interscholastic school team in the state.

Coach Robert Ross told in happy words about the boys and their training. He told of the needs for extending sports among the schoolboys. One matter which should be attended to at once in anticipation of a successful basketball season is the placing of padding on the concrete walls of the gymnasium for the protection of the players. He also stated that over 50 boys had intimated to him during the day that if a wrestling mat could be secured they would be interested in forming wrestling teams. Still others would indulge in the boxing art but there is no equipment for it. To make these things possible would require a good sum but Coach Ross had spent much time in looking the various matters up and found that they could be taken care of for about $60, the work to be done by the boys and himself. His remarks evidently fell on responsive ears, for at the close of the banquet business men raised nearly $100, so that the improvements athletically at Spaulding are more promising.

The purpose of the complimentary banquet evidently was fulfilled, for through it the school and more especially the athletic end was brought in closer touch with the citizens and the splendid name and high standing which has always been placed on Spaulding sports will no doubt grow even better with more support both enthusiastically and financially.

An attractive menu card arranged in the form of a football game with the many plays was a pleasant souvenir of the occasion.

The personnel of the team is as follows: R. L. Ross, coach; Carroll Tucker, manager; Lorraine Denmore, captain; Llewellyn Denmore, Wendell, Smith, James Greig, Winston Brown, Clarence Carpenter, Charles O'Keefe, Arthur Ellenwood, Ray Bellville, Burton Jones, Leslie Ladd, Edgar Beaulieu, Clement McMahon, James Murphy, Harold Oliver, Milton Bradley, Paul Tierney, Wilfred Eisenwinter and Dino Vals.
